MULLINS IS SHACKLED.

Murderer of Tony Staffinger is Now Safe and Secure.

Kinch Mullins, the murderer of Tony Staffinger, is now safe and secure, and has the rattle of chains to constantly remind him of his cowardly crime. Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Higgins took J. F. Kirskey to the jail and had him rivet the shackles on Mullins' ankles, and they will be kept on him until the day of the trial. While Mr. Kirskey was hammering the shackles on his ankles he had very little to say, but said to Sheriff Higgins, "I don't think I can wear these things as I have rheumatism." The sheriff replied that he felt pretty confident that he would wear them. He is confined in the same cell with Hendricks, the murderer of Will Rainbolt, who has been shackled since his arrest some months ago. Sheriff Higgins was going to shackle the two men together, but they objected.

The shackles have been in the vault in the court house for years, and this is the first time they have been used since two Mexicans who were under the sentence of death for murder were them about eight years ago. One of the Mexicans was duly executed in the court house and the other cheated the law by committing suicide, cutting his throat with a spoon which he sharpened on the iron bars.—Roswell Record.

Fred Rorloff, deputy United States marshal, returned from Taos, N. M., last night, where he had gone to prevent the Mesquero Apaches from raising a disturbance at the fiesta of San Geronimo, annually observed by the people of that pueblo. This the Apaches have done for several years, and the government finally determined to put an end to the outrage. The mere presence of the deputy marshal and Ralph Collins, superintendent of the Santa Fe government Indian school, had the desired effect, the Apaches being themselves, as they should be made always to do.

STATEHOOD CAMPAIGN.

Senator Stephen B. Elkins, the Former Delegate from New Mexico Talks on Subject.

Senator Elkins, who returned last Friday described his European trip, says the Washington Post, at the New Willard, as a "travels in luxury." It is very exceptional for an ex-senator to "take a few months off," but he has come back as fit as a fiddle, looking more than ever the picture of geniality and good health.

Usually chock-full of political ideas the senator now confesses that he knows practically little about politics beyond what he knew when the special session of the senate adjourned last spring. "I cannot say what the outlook is for another statehood campaign this winter," declared he. "I have not yet got in touch with events." The senator remained in Washington less than twenty-four hours, departing for his West Virginia home almost immediately.

QUARTER MILLION BRICK.

This Number of Building Material Will Be on Hand at Penitentiary This Week.

Assistant Superintendent William E. Martin of the New Mexico penitentiary, was feeling good today over the fact that the number employed at the brick works within the prison gates had broken all former records yesterday, by turning out 36,000 brick, ready for the drying kilns, for a day's work, says the New Mexican.

Mr. Martin also reports that with the brick that are being burned in the kilns now, and which will be ready for the market by tomorrow, the visible supply of this building material on the penitentiary grounds will be about 250,000 house brick. The brick industry at the penitentiary, in addition to being one of the chief sources of revenue, is one of the busiest enterprises in the ancient capital city.

Beautiful Complexions

Are spoiled by using any kind of preparation that fills the pores of the skin. The best way to secure a clear complexion, free from sallowness, pimples, blotches, etc., is to keep the liver in good order. An occasional dose of Herbine will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, and so establish a clear, healthy complexion. Fifty cents at J. H. O'Reilly Drug Co.

Dies in Life's Morning.

Charles Day, a young man of 21 years, weighing some 200 pounds and handsomely formed, died Saturday at the hospital from appendicitis. He had been here only a short time, but had gone to work on South Second street, at his trade of shoemaker. The other day he was taken with a pain in his side, which continued to grow worse and worse. When he finally called in a physician he was pronounced in the last stage of appendicitis. He was taken to the hospital and operated on, but the case was too far gone, and he died. His father, Wm. Day, who is a dyer, was one of the railroad men running into Denver, wired O. W. Strong's Sons to embalm the body, and hold it for his coming. He was to have left Denver today.

"Scoop" in an Accident.

Chalmers Lowell (Scoop) Pancoast, who is in Minneapolis, where he was called on important and pressing business in connection with the Pancoast estate, writes a friend that he had, while out automobiling with his attorney, met with an accident, which, although he escaped with his life, had inflicted upon him considerable bodily damage, though not serious injury. Mr. Pancoast writes that he was steering the machine, when it became unmanageable, running into the street gutter and upsetting. Mr. Pancoast's facial features were disfigured, he was bruised about the body and limbs and suffered an ankle being sprained. His attorney's injuries were less severe.

"RALLY DAY."

Interesting Devotional Exercises at Lead Avenue Church Yesterday.

METHODIST PREPARING FOR CONFERENCE

Yesterday was "Rally Day" at the Lead Avenue Methodist church, and at the Sunday school, when a fine musical program was rendered, "Conquest Flags" were handed to the children as souvenirs. The fourth quarterly meeting was in the morning at 11 o'clock, a fine sermon being delivered by Rev. A. F. Morrison. This was followed by communion. At 2 o'clock, in the afternoon the church was crowded with young men, who had been invited to attend and listen to a talk on the subject, "Why Do Methodists Object to Dancing, Theater Going and the Circus." At 6:30 p. m., the Epworth League held an interesting meeting, led by Miss Ella Coltrane. The evening services were conducted by Rev. A. F. Morrison, and he delivered a grand sermon.

The Methodists are preparing for the conference of the New Mexico English mission of that church, which convenes in this city on Thursday, program of which has already been published in The Citizen.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating the postoffice department reported a large number of indictments this afternoon. Among those indicted are General James N. Tyner, formerly assistant attorney general for the post-office department, and Harrison Barrett, who was his assistant. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

Negunague, Mich., Oct. 5.—Reports reached here today that the little town of Ewen, west of this city, was struck by a tornado and half of it laid waste. A number of men working on the roof of the school house were blown off and one killed and four fatally hurt, besides several sustaining lesser hurts. The loss of property is reported $200,000.

JOKERS OUTPOINTED.

Although Duffy's Honeymoon Trip Was Interrupted.

STOPPED AT BARSTOW.

The following article of local interest was clipped from the San Francisco Chronicle:

"The honeymoon trip of J. B. Duffy and his bride of a few days has been rudely interrupted by a prank of some practical jokers. Duffy, who is city passenger agent of the Santa Fe in this city, was married last week to Miss Mabel Wits and they started on a honeymoon trip to the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Some of Duffy's associates in the local passenger office of the Santa Fe undertook to relieve the monotony of his trip over the Colorado desert and the result was that the young bridegroom was dragged from his berth by a deputy sheriff when the train reached Barstow. He was placed under arrest, taken from the train and shown a telegram signed by the chief of police of San Francisco directing the Santa Fe agent at Barstow to apprehend one James Duffy for abducting a small girl. The presence of Mrs. Duffy, who is of small stature, was an intimidating circumstance that looked the blacker when Duffy tried to explain that he was married and on his honeymoon trip. The local passenger office of the Santa Fe was thrown into a state of great consternation yesterday when a telegram came from Barstow announcing that Duffy was there for kidnapping a small girl. One of the clerks in the office, thinking the joke had gone too far, immediately telegraphed to Barstow an explanation that the whole affair was a joke, whereupon Duffy was permitted to resume his trip."

Mr. Duffy and bride came in from the Grand Canyon last night, arriving on the No. 8 passenger train and they returned west to San Francisco on the No. 7 passenger train. Their short stay here, only between trains, was very pleasant indeed, for Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Marron, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Putney, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Owen, Charles E. Roe and T. N. Wilkerson met them at the Alvarado and engaged them in conversation till train time. Mr. Duffy was stationed in this city in 1897, when the Santa Fe Pacific (then the Atlantic & Pacific) was in the hands of receivers, and gained quite a reputation as a first-class joker. It was an easy matter for him to perpetrate a joke on a friend, and of course his railroad friends in San Francisco on whom he had tried his tricks, saw an opportunity to get even when Duffy got here. Duffy stopped at Barstow for abducting a girl. The girl, of course, was the bride, Mrs. Duffy, but the deputy sheriff at Barstow did not know these facts. He performed his duty, and Duffy submitted, Duffy, quickly observing that some joker was at work, entered into the plot himself, and took charge of the wires, firing telegrams to and fro, regarding the detention of himself and bride. Finally, the railroad company grew interested and telegraphed to the "Barstow agent to assume all responsibility and let Duffy and wife proceed." The happy couple then continued on to the Grand Canyon, but Duffy told a few friends last night that the San Francisco jokers were out of pocket considerable money for telegrams.

Do You Want to Yawn?

Feel cold shiverings, aching in the bones, lack of energy, headache and great depression? These symptoms may be followed by violent headache, high fever, extreme nervousness, a condition known as malaria. Herbine cures it. Take it before the disease gets a fair hold, though it will work a cure in any stage. J. A. Hopkins, Manchester, Kas., writes: "I have used your great medicine, Herbine, for several years. There is nothing better for malaria, chills and fever, headache, biliousness, and for a blood-purifying tonic, there is nothing as good." Fifty cents at J. H. O'Reilly Drug Co.

Cruelty Killed the Boy.

Neligh, Neb., Oct. 5.—The five-year old son of Frederick Wagoner is dead as a result of an attempt made by two of his playmates to make him eat sand. They dislocated his neck and a quantity of sand was found in the boy's stomach. The offenders are known and will be arrested as soon as the coroner's jury makes report.

Denver, Oct. 5.—A special to the Post from Lumberton, N. M., says: Albert P. F. Cope killed his wife, his sister-in-law, Miss Hernandez, and himself. Mrs. Cope and Miss Hernandez were shot with a revolver. Cope ended his own life with a shot gun. Cope was an Englishman about 45 years old and up to a short time was known as Sir Albert P. F. Cope, but dropped his title recently. He received regularly large remittances from England. He has been in the saloon business here for twenty years. No cause is assigned for the crime except temporary insanity. The woman who Cope killed, it is said, was his fourth or fifth wife.

INSANE FROM HEAT.

Insane Fireman Causes Excitement on a Ship and Jumps Overboard. Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The passage of the American line steamship Westerland, which has just reached port, was marked by one day of wild excitement. Among the firemen who shipped for the voyage was John Greening. On September 25 he became insane from the heat of the furnace room and running on deck drew a large knife and run amuck among the steerage passengers, finally jumping overboard. The vessel was stopped and a small boat launched but the man had sunk. None of the passengers were injured.

WHERE IS DONOVAN?

A Strange, Mysterious Acting Man Has Disappeared.

SEEMED UNDER DRUG INFLUENCE.

Who and where is the mysterious Mr. J. M. Donovan? May be asked with a fair and moderate display of curiosity.

Donovan is a large, well proportioned man of about 190 pounds, has dark hair and moustache and when last seen wore a dark suit of clothes and a black slouch hat. He alighted from the Los Angeles train and said he was going east. He seemed dazed and unsteady on his feet. He scanned the crowd on the station platform and selecting D. J. Rankin, the real estate agent, as a man of his word (that is what Donovan said) and a man to be trusted, the mysterious man called Mr. Rankin to one side and gave him the address of a brother in Chicago, saying "If anything happens to me while in the city, wire my brother," and then he disappeared.

At 10 o'clock, the night of the same day on which he arrived in town, the mysterious Donovan appeared at the Santa Fe ticket office and tossing a $10 bill on the counter of the ticket window, asked for a ticket to Fort Worth, Texas. A ticket to Fort Worth from Albuquerque cost $28. Ticket Agent Carpenter informed Donovan of the price and he immediately remarked in a very ordinary tone of voice, "I told you so last night."

Donovan did not buy a ticket at the local office and has completely disappeared. Ticket Agent Carpenter says that he sat around the waiting room several hours and seemed groggy, as if under the influence of some drug.

ELECTRIC STREET RAILWAY.

Work Will Begin October 25 and Be Pushed to Completion.

DEMING'S NEW NATIONAL BANK.

W. H. Greer, New Mexico manager of the Victoria Land & Cattle company, in Grant and Luna counties, was a passenger from the south this morning.

The citizen learned from him that the comptroller of the currency has authorized a New Mexico bank at Deming. It will be called the Deming National and will have $25,000 capital. T. M. Wingo, cashier of the London National of El Paso, will be president, and J. J. Bennett, also of El Paso, will be cashier and manager. Mr. Wingo will remain in El Paso, but Mr. Bennett will reside in Deming. The vault and other fixtures have arrived and the bank will be ready for business in a few days.

The company which Mr. Greer represents, has purchased the Armeria grant, near San Marcial, which formerly belonged to Wilson Waddingham, and is considered a very fine estate for grazing purposes.

The city council recently having granted to W. P. Greer, who represents California capitalists, a franchise for an electric line through the city, he was asked when he expected to begin work. In reply he stated that E. G. Elbert of Los Angeles, has the contract for construction, that he will arrive in Albuquerque October 19, and work will be begun on or about October 25, that the first part of the line constructed will run from the Alvarado to the court house, that construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible, that there will be some difficulty in procuring the desirable kind of steel rails for the entire line but none in getting rails for the part to be first laid down, and that the electrical supplies have been purchased from the Condon Electrical company of Camden, N. J., and that the ties have already been contracted for.

CHASE RECALLED.

Colorado's Military Tyrant Deposed From Command of State Troops.

Denver, Oct. 5.—Brig. Gen. Chase's recall from command at Cripple Creek was due to protests made against excessive number of field and line officers on the pay-roll. This statement was declared today from a source which has usually been on the inside of military affairs to be a solution of the general's enforced retirement from active service on Saturday. Two many officers drawing pay of majors, colonels and brigadier-generals and too few company officers has caused the commanding officer from time to time to protest and remark that he was in favor of cutting down the list. The opportunity came Saturday when first set of pay-rolls was completed, Colonel Gross, brigadier paymaster, was aware that General Chase was likely to make reductions in salary accounts and for that reason refused to allow the general to see the rolls. That a scandal is brewing here there seems no doubt, but details will not be known till General Chase calls for an investigation. Such a thing is possible within the next forty-eight hours.

A red hot maydomo election is going on at Los Corrales. The whole town is interested in the election, and all the male voters are out. It is also understood that an exciting election is on at Alameda.

GENERAL MANAGER HOPEWELL

Succeeded on the Santa Fe Central By W. D. Lee.

OFFICIAL ORDER ISSUED.

A change in the office of general manager of the Santa Fe Central railway was announced yesterday by President W. H. Andrews. General Manager W. S. Hopewell has tendered his resignation, so as to devote his entire time and attention to the construction of the Albuquerque Eastern branch of the Santa Fe Central, and the affairs of the Pennsylvania Development company and the New Mexico Fuel and Iron company, of which enterprises he is the general manager.

Pursuant to the stepping down and out of the general manager's office of the Santa Fe Central, Colonel Hopewell will be succeeded by W. D. Lee, who for nearly a quarter of a century has been identified with the Denver & Rio Grande system. President Andrews' general order to the heads of the various departments of the Santa Fe Central, and announcing the retirement of Colonel Hopewell as general manager, and appointing Mr. Lee as his successor follows: Santa Fe Central Railway Company, Office of the President, Santa Fe, N. M., October 1, 1903.

To whom it may concern: Colonel W. S. Hopewell has this day resigned as general manager of the Santa Fe Central railway, in order to devote his time to the affairs of the Pennsylvania Development company, to the building of the Albuquerque Eastern and the New Mexico Fuel and Iron company's property of which he is general manager. W. D. Lee is hereby appointed general manager of the Santa Fe Central railway, and heads of departments will report to him.

W. H. ANDREWS, President. Mr. Lee, the new general manager, for the past twenty-two years, has served in various capacities with the Denver & Rio Grande. For the past eleven years he has been the superintendent of the Rio Grande Southern, with headquarters at Salida. He is a thoroughly competent railroad official, and comes to the Santa Fe Central with the best of wishes of the officials of the system with which he was so long identified.

Mr. Lee is a native of Ohio, and has a wife and two children. He will remove his family to Santa Fe immediately, and make his headquarters in the new general offices of the Santa Fe Central in the Catron building. Among the first of the important changes to be made by Mr. Lee will be the establishment of a day schedule for the trains operated by the company, between the Capital City and Torrance, so as to give the residents along the line a local day service.
